Your Digital Footprint: Choosing What to Post and Share

Directions: Each question is about a digital footprint and the choices kids make online. Think about who could see each post or action and how long it could last, then choose the best answer.

1. Hector does a lot of different things in one day. Which of these adds to his digital footprint?

A. A comment he posts under a video

B. A drawing he keeps in a notebook at home

C. A paper book he reads on the bus

D. A joke he tells a friend at lunch

2. Not every part of a digital footprint is something you post. Which of these is already part of Kayla's digital footprint, even though she hasn't posted anything?

A. A record of the videos she watched, kept by a video app

B. A poem she wrote in her journal at home

C. A picture she drew on paper

D. A song she sang while washing dishes

3. Before she posts anything, Bree wants a quick test for whether the post is a good idea. Which question is the most helpful one to ask herself?

A. Will this get a lot of likes?

B. Would I be okay with my family, my teacher or a future coach seeing this?

C. Is my photo filter bright enough?

D. Can I post this before my friends do?

4. Kofi is upset after his team loses a game, and he types a mean post about the other team. What should he do first?

A. Post it and tag players from the other team.

B. Post it right away, then delete it later if he changes his mind.

C. Post it, but only for his friends to see.

D. Wait until he has calmed down, then decide whether to post it.

5. Wendy wants to post a funny photo of her friend Jo from their sleepover. What should Wendy do first?

A. Post it, then ask Jo later if she minds.

B. Post it, since Wendy took the picture.

C. Ask Jo whether it's okay to post the photo.

D. Post it and tag Jo so she sees it.

6. Nia wants her posts to add up to a digital footprint she can be proud of. Which post would help most?

A. A post making fun of someone's outfit

B. A photo of the robot she built for the science fair

C. A photo that shows her house number

D. An angry post about a teacher

7. Maren deleted an old post yesterday, and she keeps her account set so only her friends can see her posts. Which two statements are true? Choose 2.

☐ A. Her friends-only setting limits who can see her posts, but a friend could still share one.

☐ B. Her friends-only setting hides her posts from everyone, even her friends.

☐ C. Deleting the post took it off her page, but copies someone made before may still exist.

☐ D. Deleting the post erased every copy of it everywhere.

8. Otis taps Like on lots of posts every day. Which statement about his likes is true?

A. Only his best friend can ever see his likes.

B. His likes are things he does online, so they can become part of his digital footprint.

C. Likes don't count because they aren't words.

D. Likes vanish as soon as he closes the app.

9. Ari's cousin posted a photo of Ari with a caption Ari doesn't like. What should Ari do first?

A. Leave an angry comment under the photo.

B. Ignore it and assume nobody will ever see it.

C. Ask his cousin politely to take it down or change the caption.

D. Post an embarrassing photo of his cousin back.

10. Luca stopped using an old game account a long time ago, but its public profile still shows his photo and a silly bio. What is a good step for him to take?

A. Ask a parent to help him delete the account or limit who can see it.

B. Share the profile link so people know it's old.

C. Leave it alone, since nobody can find old accounts.

D. Add more silly posts so the old ones get pushed down.
